Allergy Advice

Some dishes do contain nuts and allergens. Please request assistance and we will accommodate any allergies to the best of our abilities.

The epicure will find far more than curries in our cuisine. We call nothing a curry that does not blend at least a dozen individual flavours of herbs and freshly ground spices into a piquant whole, and a meal that lacks half a score of these is not one to be offered to anyone.

The dishes we present to you are prepared with the addition of fragrant, warm and pungent spices from Indian subcontinent, delicately blended in meticulous proportions. The distinctive flavour and aroma of each individual dish cannot come from the rancid ambiguity called curry powder, but from the spices separately prepared each day.
